PRESS RELEASE

Barrueco, the new single-vineyard wine from Pagos de Anguix

- Barrueco 2017 is the first vino de paraje (single vineyard) wine from J&C Prime Brands' Ribera del Duero winery, a red expressing the complexity and structure of the parcel that gives it its name.
- Pure and honest, with character and aging potential. This fine red from Pagos de Anguix is the winery's first single-vineyard wine.

Burgos, November 2020.- Barrueco, named after the vineyard where the grapes are grown to make it, is the new wine from Pagos de Anguix, a splendid, complex, highly structured red that will improve in the bottle. The estate is at an altitude of more than 850 metres (2,800 ft) in the heart of the Ribera del Duero region near Burgos. The vineyard, between 20 and 30 years old, is on stony soil with a chalky clay base, a key element in the power, elegance and longevity of this wine, the result of an environmentally friendly production process focused on obtaining the pure authentic expression of this vineyard.

Barrueco 2017 has been made only with the Tinto Fino grape variety, grown with care and patience to the highest standards in a quest for expressiveness and structure. It has been aged for 15 months in oak barrels (75% French and 25% American). It is a powerful wine with great character, catching the eye with its bright, intense red colour and remaining hints of purple. Its aroma, which is certainly intense and complex, initially evokes notes of red fruits on a background of toasted almonds and hazelnuts. Gradually, as it opens up, the wine's complexity grows and touches of vanilla, coffee and cocoa emerge, accompanied by hints of cedar and tobacco leaf.

In the mouth it is opulent and structured. Its balanced acidity and attractive mineral notes complete a fresh, harmonious whole. Its pleasant, unctuous, velvety texture is like an affectionate caress on the palate. The finish is long and slightly spicy.

Pagos D ANGUIX

Barrueco is undoubtedly a wine for keeping, as it will improve in the bottle over the next ten years.

The winery is in Anguix, a municipality located in the extreme north of the DO, a limit place for cultivation. It has a total of 77 hectares of vineyards, of which 35 of them are certified as organic and come from the additional purchase by J&C Prime Brands of the winery attached to Pagos de Anguix, Campos Góticos, recognized for having been a pioneer in ecological viticulture in the region.

The rest of the vineyard is currently in transition to be certified organic. The vineyards of Pagos de Anguix stand at a height of 850 meters and are between 20 and 40 years old. These are exclusively plots of fine red wine, which are the raw material of a wine conceived to be long-lived, although pleasant for immediate consumption at the same time.
